Clinic Procedure

Theoretical Lesson

Within the last years of teaching I figured out that I have to explain a lot of theoretical content to create a base where students understand what I want them to do, especially in clinics since most students are not being coached by me on a regular base. That's why each of my clinics starts with a theory unit: I will show a PowerPoint presentation, talk about the in my opinion most important things about dressage or jumping training and answer questions. The theoretical lesson is included in the price.

The theory unit contains:

- Scale of Education
- Arrangement of Priorities
- 2 "Gamechangers"
- What we can learn from other sports

Clinic Structure

This is a one or two day clinic with three different types of lessons:

- Individual training, 45 min (Dressage)                      One day $150; Two days $275
- Training for 2 students, 60 min (Dressage)              One day $125; Two days $200
- Training for 3 students, 60 min (Clinics)                One day $85; Two days $150

- Audit $25 for adults and $15 for kids & teens

Pixeo Video Taping

In my opinion it's very important to work with video analysis as often as possible.

Therefore, each lesson will be recorded by the Pixeo Video Robot. This brand new technology from France allows me to record each lesson fully automatic by attaching the student's cell phone to a robot. The robot follows the Pixeo watch the rider is wearing, automatically zooms in and out and films the lesson just like a person that would actually film it, probably even a little bit better ;-). Every student needs to download the Pixeo App and make sure that the cell phone battery is fully charged.
